THE STORY

As the leading business advocacy organization in North Carolina, NC Chamber works in the legislative, regulatory and political arenas to proactively drive positive change. Relocating to a new floor in their existing building with more space, NC Chamber was looking for a fresh and modern design. Office Revolution was introduced to NC Chamber by their leasing agent, Highwoods Properties, and quickly brought on board to help with designing the new space and decommissioning their old office.

The NC Chamber wanted a warm and inviting space for new businesses coming to the state, as well as an open area for employees to meet and collaborate. Taking cues from the comforts of home, soft seating—such as the Teknion Zones modular sofa and high back Fractals Nook from Studio TK—were utilized, creating a vibrant space perfect for casual conversations. A high-top Teknion Zones Canteen collaborative table was added for communal work and suits a variety of preferences and working habits.

The conference room can accommodate large meetings or social distancing, with a DARRAN conference table and Source Purl conference chairs for up to 20 guests. Teknion / ESI height-adjustable desks were used for employee workstations and private offices were furnished with DARRAN Central Park Collection desks and DARRAN Cosmo guest chairs. The fresh and functional furnishings allow employees to decide where, how and with whom they want to work based on the movement, conversation and flexibility they're seeking.

NC Chamber serves as the voice for businesses, and it advocates for solutions to make North Carolina a place where each organization can thrive. This vibrant office is reflective of Raleigh's flourishing business community, welcoming open discussion and thoughtful planning.
