THE STORY

Bystronic—a global sheet metal processing specialist known for innovation in the fields of laser cutting, bending, automation and software—was focused on building a new Experience Center for its North American HQ.

The company, who hadn't updated its furniture for a number of years, was excited for change. The client was seeking an updated look but still with an emphasis on longevity and durability. They were also interested in a manufacturer and dealer that could support both furniture and complementary architectural walls. As part of the competitive process, we installed a mockup workstation in Bystronic's warehouse to allow them to explore the layout, as well as the comfort, of the Teknion furniture.

Bystronic is known for high-performance standards, local expertise, excellent service and an emphasis on sustainability. Holding ourselves to the same high standards, Office Revolution worked very closely with the designer to manage the furniture and finish selections. The collaboration among teams on this project illustrated the same execution and acute attention to detail Bystronic possesses and values in their own work.
