THE STORY

When the 2016 MLB World Series Champions needed an office update, we were thrilled to be selected for the job. The progressive and highly energetic staff required a unique office solution reflective of their corporate culture.

In the heart of Wrigleyville, we kicked off the project by allowing employees to assess 30 different chairs to find the seating solution to best fit their needs. Teknion workstations were installed, providing a modern aesthetic that was both space-saving and budget-friendly. With low, horizontal lines, these workstations are ideal for cross-collaboration amongst employees. For the executive private offices, Halcon was selected for its timeless design and a refined, minimalist feel. The end result is an office that's both highly functional and aesthetically pleasing - a grand slam for this winning team.
