THE STORY

Narrative Science is an artificial intelligence technology company that we had the opportunity to collaborate with in 2018.

As a growing company that is escaping the “start-up phase,” Narrative Science was looking for a new space that would reflect their personality and culture, while allowing for ample growth over the coming years.

A question that Narrative Science CEO Stuart Frankel asked was: “What do we need to do today to inform and impact where we want to be in 3 years?” We helped them invent a space that instantly tells visitors that the company is successful and that they care for their employees.
